He review	red the abstracts of:
a) "A St I N F	udy of the Effectiveness of Vaccine Age	ainst Influenza" aiologii i Immun	by obiologii , 1953,

- #10, pages 44-45.
- b) "Experimental Application of Living Vaccine Against Influenza" by A A Smorodintsev, O M Chalkina, and I M Ansheles, ibid, pages 52-56.
- c) "Effectiveness of Immunization Against Influenza With Dry Living Vaccine in Stalingrad in 1952", by A V Dubakina, I A Sutin, B S Voulfovich, ibid, pages 63-65.
- d) "Modification of Influenza Virus A, In The Process of Adaptation to Chick Embryo" by V D Solovyev and N R Gutman, ibid, pages 65 - 68.
- "Length of Survival of Influenza Virus on the Surface and in the Air" by Z. I. Merekalova.
- The level of research indicated by these abstracts is similar comparable to some of the work done in the US. In my opinion there are no areas which are unique or bizarre as compared to investigative work now carried on in the US.
- My professional opinion with regard to the information indicates that the 2. level of research is fairly low and is a type of technical procedure rather than a search after new information.
- I am not very impressed. Most of my students who are working on their MA 3. degree do much better work. This cannot even be compared to those working on their PhD.
- No questions concerning Soviet research on influenza occur to me as a result of reading the above-listed articles.
